

Choice Pharma is a dynamic, energetic and rapidly expanding company that supports pharmaceutical and biotechnology companies at every stage of the product lifecycle. Our healthcare solutions team delivers medical and scientific rigour, commercial expertise and innovative high-impact medical communication and education programmes throughout the world.

We are currently seeking life science graduates to join our growing business. Suitable applicants will be looking to embark on a career in medical communications, and will initially join the team as Project Assistants providing editorial and client support. We seek motivated, hard working individuals who take pride in delivering work of an excellent standard and enjoy working in a fast moving team environment.

Choice Pharma provides exceptional career development and personal growth opportunities by offering our team members the chance to work on a wide variety of different projects and programmes across a broad and growing International client base.

If you're confident in your abilities and are looking for an employer that encourages and rewards success, please forward your CV to hr@choicepharma.com, outlining your current location and salary expectations.